

John J. O'Donnell, Esq.

John discovered his interest in law at West Chester University in his undergraduate Business Law classes. After graduation, he decided to go to Widener University School of Law for his JD. John decided to become a litigator and Workers' Compensation attorney because he likes to be busy and help people. He chose to work at Martin Law because he had known about the firm for his entire career and was "always impressed by the firm's excellence in their approach and their representation of their clients."

John grew up in Levittown, Pennsylvania, with 7 siblings. He is now a father of twins and lives in Newtown. When he isn't at work, he enjoys outdoor activities at the beach and skiing. John is also a musician and performs in several local bands. He plays guitar, bass, and drums.
