

Removal from the Workforce by Means of Retirement- Worker's Comp

In the case of Shannopin v. Workers' Compensation Appeal Board (Sereg), the Commonwealth Court affirmed a judge's decision after multiple remands, because he made a finding that the claimant was totally disabled from the work force in 2002 and that, thus, he had not removed himself from it via retirement.