

Martin Law Attends PCA Convention

Martin Law's medical coordinator, Jill Mitchell, attended the Pennsylvania Chiropractic Association (PCA) Convention to discuss our relations with different Chiropractic doctors, as well as the customer service we deliver. Jill talked about the importance of visiting chiropractors during the recovery process, especially when it comes to back injuries.

The PCA is an organization for Chiropractors across the state that we hope to build a better rapport with in order to provide the best service to our clients. Our client orientated practice means that we are always looking for new ways to improve the medical help that we can refer our clients to for assistance in their recovery.
