

Pennsylvania Proud: The Story of Martin Law

"Making the world better, one client at a time."

Martin Law is honored to have participated in the local suburban publication "Pennsylvania Proud" – dedicated to the products created and delivered day in and day out in the Keystone State.

"Many law firms go to great lengths to communicate strength, experience or size in order to gain clients."

Nearly 35 years ago, a firm that began in Philadelphia can certainly boast those qualities, but simply prides itself on one thing: the value of one individual person."

A person who can walk away from a problem with their head held high, knowing their rights were protected. A person who can return to everyday life with a security they feared was lost forever. That firm has embraced this vision from the beginning. And it all started, ironically, with the founder getting fired."