

MARTIN LAW

THE LAW FIRM FOR INJURED WORKERS

» Workers' Compensation » Social Security Disability » Long-Term Disability » Veterans' Benefits

ANDREW YANG is an associate with Martin Law who practices Social Security Disability law. Prior to joining the firm, Mr. Yang was a legal intern with the Temple Legal Aid Clinic, where he represented and interviewed clients and drafted briefs in support of disability claims. He started as a legal intern at the Pennsylvania Human Relations Commission and has also worked for the First Judicial District of Pennsylvania Court of Common Pleas.

Mr. Yang majored in English and minored in psychology; he graduated from Temple University in 2010 and went on to earn his law degree from Temple Beasley School of Law in 2014. During his time at law school, he was a recipient of the James Peter and Stella Liacouras Memorial Scholarship and a member of the Rubin Public Interest Law Honor Society. Mr. Yang is also fluent in Taiwanese.

Areas of Practice

» Social Security Disability

Bar Admissions

» Pennsylvania, 2014
» New Jersey, 2014

Education

» Temple Beasley School of Law, Philadelphia, PA - J.D. - 2014
» Temple University, Philadelphia, PA - B.A. - 2010
Major: English, Minor: Psychology

Professional Associations and Memberships

» Philadelphia Bar Association, Member
» Pennsylvania Bar Association, Member
» New Jersey Bar Association, Member
» Asian Pacific American Bar Association of Pennsylvania, Member

Honors and Awards

» Pennsylvania Rising Star Honoree, 2020